

I support RM-10352, narrow modes like today's PSK31 and future narrow modes need protection from the wider modes of operation. Narrow modes, by definition, are the most efficient modes of operation, but only if protected from the wider modes.